A SOUTHERN CYCLONE

Ohio River at a Dangerously High Stage.

THE ASTOR WILL PROBATED.

His Son Receives the Bulk of the Estate.

Labouche is to Stir Up the Cleveland Street Scandal.

Rain and Wind Storms.

CINCINNATI, Feb. 26.—All the elements of a disastrous flood in the Ohio river seem to be present. Along the entire valley of the Ohio river the rainfall has been enormous. The rise of the river for the past 24 hours was over seven feet; five feet more, and it will interfere with railroad traffic, and every inch after that will increase the trouble. Its proportions depends on the weather for the next few days. Steamboat traffic is impeded because the steamers cannot pass under the bridges at the present stage of the water.

At Keathley, Tenn., the bank building belonging to Winslow & Beard was blown to splinters. There were 35 persons in the building at the time, and six were more or less injured, but none fatally.

A heavy windstorm prevailed at Marion, and the courthouse was partly blown down, badly damaging the records; the opera house was unroofed, and several business houses were more or less damaged.

John Jacob Astor's Will.

NEW YORK, Feb. 26.—At noon today Wm. Waldorf Astor and lawyer Southmayd, the executors, entered the Surrogate's office with John Jacob Astor's will, and filed a petition for its probate. The will covers only two and a half sheets of parchment. By the terms of the will St. Luke's Hospital receives $100,000; the Metropolitan Museum of Art, $50,000; the New York Cancer Hospital, $100,000; the Astor Library, $450,000; Alexander Hamilton, $30,000, and James Simmons Armstrong, $30,000. All the residue of the estate goes to his son William Waldorf Astor.

Some Dirty Lines.

LONDON, Feb. 26.—In the Commons today Henry Labouchere gave notice that he would introduce a resolution to reduce the appropriation for the Courts in order to call the attention of the House to the great scandal attaching to the administration of justice in the condition of the Cleveland-street affair.

Destructive Cyclone.

HOT SPRINGS (Ark.), Feb. 26.—A tornado swept through the southern portion of town yesterday doing considerable damage and general destruction between here and the Wichita river. It is feared that several were killed.

Another Dividend.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 26.—The Comptroller of the Treasury has declared the third dividend of 10 per cent. in favor of the creditors of the California Bank of San Francisco, making in all 35 per cent.

Heavy Rains and Great Losses.

LOUISVILLE (Ky.), Feb. 26.—Heavy rains are reported throughout the State. At Frankfort the river is rising very rapidly, and great loss is reported.

Guarding the Bill.

OTTAWA, Feb. 26.—The bill of the Northwest Coal and Navigation Company to build a road from Lethbridge, by the way of Fort McLeod, to the summit of Crow's Nest Pass, and thence to British Columbia, was amended before the Railway Committee yesterday so as to prevent the road from securing a monopoly of the pass as its only outlet to British Columbia in that region.

Railroad Scheme.

RICHMOND, Feb. 26.—The House Committee on Railroads has reported a bill to incorporate the Virginia, Missouri & Western Railroad Company. The object is to construct a road from Norfolk, Va., to Junction, N. M., on the Atlantic & Pacific and Atchafalaya & Topeka railroads, a distance of 1,640 miles.

A Few Appointments.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 26.—The President to-day sent to the Senate the following nominations: Registers of Land Offices, Edward C. Ross at Walla Walla, Wash.; and James E. Russell at Coeur d'Alene, Idaho. F. Willsey, Agent for the Indians of the Round Valley Agency in California.

Officer Assassinated.

NEW ORLEANS, Feb. 26.—In the town of Springfield, La., Monday night, J. C. White, a Deputy Sheriff, was killed by assassins, and Harmon Kinchen dangerously wounded. William White was shot at several times, but escaped. Lucien Morgan and a man named Hale have been arrested.

European News Notes.

LONDON, Feb. 26.—The condition of Lord Tennyson is much improved. Influenza is raging in eastern Syria. Cholera has abated in Persia.

A Tennessee Cyclone.

MEMPHIS, Feb. 26.—The damage by yesterday's cyclone at Brownsville was fifty thousand dollars. One woman was killed and two children were severely hurt.

LOCAL INTELLIGENCE.

A SAD CASE.

The Asylum Finally Furnished Him a Home.

A GAZETTE correspondent writes as follows from St. Clair's station: Alex Pollock of Churchill county was sent to Reno to the asylum this week in charge of Deputy Sheriff Kellogg. Mr. Pollock has been a resident of this county and Washoe for many years and was favorably known as an honest, industrious, good-hearted man, and an unusually good workman at his trade, a carpenter, being very seldom in want of work. The demon drink almost wrecked him in his younger years, and he reformed and controlled his appetite for several years, but in the past year he has again fallen, until he has lost his mind and labors under the hallucination that he has been robbed of large sums of money and threatens to murder his imaginary defrauders, who but a few weeks ago were his best friends. Another one added to the long list of victims of strong drink.

BREVITIES.

Henry Martin, the Carson wood contractor, returned from California today.

Messrs. Baker, Wines and Dorsey returned last evening from San Francisco.

The funeral of an Italian whose name was not learned took place this afternoon.

Attention is called to the 50-cent ad. of a man and wife who wish situations on a ranch.

Lewis, son of John Bradley, passed east today on his way to his home in Elko county.

At the gymnasium to-night there will be a boxing match for points between Henry Stevens, backed by A. E. Donnelly, and Frank Kelleher, backed by Dan O'Keefe, for $25 a side. Everybody invited.

Effect of the Late Wind.

Owing to the recent high winds which have filled all the cuts with snow, both the V. & T. and the N. C. & O. are again blocked. Monday evening's train on the latter road did not arrive until after midnight, having been stopped by a drift in the vicinity of the University.

Monday evening's V. & T. express was the last train over the road, and as the snow continues to pile up in the south end of Washoe Valley and in the vicinity of the Scales below Gold Hill, it is difficult to say when we can expect the next train.

The Central Pacific people seem to have conquered the elements on the Sierras, for to-day East-bound trains were not very late.

Stock Shipments.

The following shipments of beef cattle were made this afternoon: Matt Healey shipped twelve cars to San Francisco, James Miller shipped five cars to the same place, and George Humphrey shipped one car to Truckee and one car to Colfax.

Special Train.

A special train will be run from Reno to convey invited guests to the wedding of the daughter of Theodore Winters. Train will leave Reno at 3:30 P. M., returning immediately after the passenger train.

CONGRESSIONAL PROCEEDINGS.

A Violent Scene in the Hungarian Parliament.

Master Abraham Lincoln Passes a Bad Night.

Proceedings of Congress.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 26.—The House this morning took up the contested election case of Atkinson vs. Pendleton in the first district of Virginia. Six hours were allowed for debate.

The House Committee on Agriculture continued the hearing of persons interested in bills for the regulation of taxation on land compound. A representative of N. K. Fairbank, the largest manufacturer, claimed that Congress has no power to make such a law, as the compound is plainly branded as such and is not deleterious to the health.

The result of the agitation was to curtail export demand for American lard and unjustly give it a bad reputation. The lard exports last year fell off five million pounds. The proposed legislation was in the interest of a rival firm in Boston. Under the existing conditions foreigners could buy crude lard in this country, ship it abroad, adulterate and undersell American compound lard.

The Special House Committee on the World's Fair met this morning to begin the consideration of the second stage of its work—the completion of the bill. After hearing a statement from Hitt as to Chicago's wishes in the matter, a sub-committee was instructed to draft a bill in accordance therewith.

The House Committee on Territories decided to report favorably the bill for the admission of Idaho. The action was not entirely unanimous, therefore two reports will in all probability be submitted.

SENATE.

Chandler presented a petition from Union county, Ark., representing that at the last State election a systematic reign of terror prevailed; that armed mobs paraded the county day and night, terrorizing the whites and shooting and whipping the colored voters, and that the ballot box was carried off, and asking for the protection guaranteed by the constitution. The introduction of this petition caused an extremely personal debate between Chandler, Harris and Berry. The petition, with several others for Arkansas, were finally referred to the Committee on Privileges and Elections.

The Blair educational bill was then taken up.

Will be Relieved.

WASHINGTON, Feb. 26.—The request of the Union Iron Works of San Francisco to be relieved of the penalty accruing by reason of the horse-power developed by the cruiser Charleston falling below the contract requirements was favorably acted upon by the Senate Naval Affairs Committee this morning. The bill will be reported relieving the company of the payment of about $33,000 penalty, to which it otherwise would be subjected.

A Violent Scene.

BUDA PESTH, Feb. 26.—In the Hungarian Lower House yesterday there was a renewal of the violent demonstrations against Premier Tisza. The Opposition moved a rejection of the entire budget. One of their number was reproved by the President, and thereupon all the others surrounded the Presidential tribunal, shaking their fists at the President, and menacing him.

Murderer Executed.

WAYNESBURG (Pa.), Feb. 26.—Geo. Clark, one of the murderers of William McCansland, an Allegheny City drover, in September, 1877, was hanged here to-day.

To be Reinforced.

BERLIN, Feb. 26.—The non-commissioned officers to reinforce Major Wiseman in East Africa started for their destination to-day.

Bismarck to Resign.

BERLIN, Feb. 26.—It is officially stated that the recent elections will cause Bismarck to tender his resignation from office.

A Shaky Officer.

LONDON (O.), Feb. 26.—David Willoughby, a member of the Council, has been arrested and charged with complicity in a plot to blow open a hotel safe.

ASHLAND (Wis.), Feb. 26.—In the Perrin trial to-day Seymour, a reputable citizen of Hurley, testified that Perrin came to him with a proposition to tunnel under the bank building vaults and take out $50,000.

Passed a Bad Night.

LONDON, Feb. 26.—Master Abraham Lincoln passed a bad night. At one time it was feared he was dying.

Officially Denied.

ROME, Feb. 26.—The Italian Government officially denies that its action in Africa is directed against Kassala.

5 O'CLOCK EDITION.

YESTERDAY'S fire shows the necessity of having horses connected with the fire service. One engine was gotten in place promptly because it had not far to go. When the second and largest was called into requisition, a dray had to be hunted up to haul it to a cistern. If the fire had been after dark, before a dray could have been commanded the fire might have made such headway as to be beyond control, and a quarter or half a million's worth of property have gone up in smoke.

The town is paying a fair price for the services of a steward. He is presumed to give his entire time to the service. It would add to his labor to care for two horses and train them; at the same time it would add to the protection from the ravages of the fiery element. Horses are comparatively inexpensive, and with the care necessary in a fire department, are long lived. When once broken in they are good for at least ten years' service. Once equipped, the only additional expense to the town would be the feed, for which all can well afford to be taxed.

The town is extending over a territory which is two miles one way and a mile and a half the other. Were the engines required at a remote part, in the night time, a building or block or more would be consumed before they could reach there. We have the best of engines and should make the most of them. We have suffered enough by losses to know their effect. It is only a question of short time till circumstances will force the town to make the fire department more efficient by the addition of horses, and the sooner that is done the better it will be for Reno.

THE free-trade press of the whole country have been preparing their readers for the great free-trade victory that was to take place in the Fourth Congressional District of the Keystone State. The election of a successor to Wm. D. Kelley took place last Tuesday and State Senator Reyburn defeated the raw material candidate. Mr. Reyburn polled 60 per cent. of the total vote cast, while Judge Kelley only polled 58 per cent. of the vote cast in 1888. Judge Kelley's old constituents are evidently not clamoring for "Tariff Reform" or free raw materials.

THE story of the execution of fourteen Chinese criminals at Peking, told in a dispatch from Shanghai, is commended to our eastern friends who still look upon the Mongolian as a mild-mannered, inoffensive accession to our population. Each culprit was compelled to dig his own grave, and then nine of the men were beheaded and five strangled. After this the bodies were exposed to the ravages of birds of prey.

THE unmarried women of Massachusetts are said to have $29,000,000 on deposit, an amount equal to all the taxable property in the State of Nevada.

Put on the Brakes
If you find you are going down the hill in point of health. Failing strength, impaired digestion and assimilation are the marks of decline. Check these and other indications of premature decay with the grand vitalizer and restorative tonic, Hostetter's Stomach Bitters. Beginning at the fountain head, the stomach, the Bitters remedies its deficiency, corrects its errors, and sets it vigorously at work. The digestive organ is thus enabled to thoroughly separate from the food its nutritive principles which the blood assimilating, is enriched. Thus is the system nourished and being nourished, strengthened and abnormal waste of its tissues stayed. Appetite, the power to rest well and regular habit are also established, and the various functions move more in their natural and healthful groove. The Bitters, moreover, is a specific for and preventive of malarial complaints, rheumatism, biliousness and kidney trouble.

Happy Husbands.
Wm. Timmons, Postmaster of Idaho, Ind. writes: "Electric Bitters has done more for me than all other medicines combined, for had been feeling arising from kidney and liver trouble." John Leslie, farmer and stockman of same place, says: "Find the Electric Bitter to be the best Liver and Kidney medicine, made me feel like a new man." J. W. Gardner, hardware merchant, same town, says: "Electric Bitters is just the thing for a man who is all run down and don't care whether he lives or dies; he found new strength, good appetite and felt just like he had a new lease on life. Only got a bottle at Wm. F. Finner's drug store."

Advice to Mothers.
Mrs. Winkler's Sorethroat Syrup should always be used for children's teething. It soothes the child, softens the gums, allays all pain, cures wind colic, and is the best remedy for diarrhoea. Twenty-five cents a bottle, 15 cents for smaller size.

WHAT WOMEN CAN DO.

Odd Occupations Pursued by Impeccable But Enterprising Ladies.
How often the vexed question arises: "What shall I do—either to earn my own living or to add in some way to a meager income?" While I was traveling around last summer I used my eyes and tongue, I trust, to some good purpose, writes a correspondent of the Minneapolis Housekeeper, and hope that some of the unusual occupations in which I found women engaged may interest you. I trust also that to some may be suggested the way to independence.

While at one of the hotels in the Catskills, I was much interested in a bright young woman who, at stated hours, was always surrounded by a group of girls and boys. One morning off they would all go for a tramp to some spot of interest; at another hour she would be surrounded by a younger company playing grace-hoops, swinging them in hammocks or entrancing them into silence in some corner of the broad piazza with some charmingly-told story or bit of history so skillfully disguised as to be rapturously received. After a few days' repetition of these performances I resolved to cultivate her acquaintance and find out, if possible, what relation she bore to those bright-eyed, active children.

I found her original and clever, quite willing to tell me how well she was succeeding in this new field. As a teacher, she was accustomed to spend her vacations at this place in the mountains, and had noticed how neglected the children were; the parents not able to have nurses and governesses for them, and too indolent, oftentimes, to amuse them themselves, allowed them to wander off at all hours and in all places to find what amusement they might. So on coming up this year our bright girl had it announced that for a certain small sum per hour she would amuse, instruct or guide the plays of the children, large and small. She is well content with this summer's work and has some new plans already under way for next season. A new name will have to be coined for her, but at present we will call her the children's friend.

There goes a little friend of mine down the street, neat in attire, with a business-like air. You would never guess her odd occupation, so let us follow her as she enters a beautiful house and proceeds to the drawing-room. Evidently the Friday's sweeping has just been done, for the furniture is drawn out into the middle of the room and dust lies powdered over mantels and cabinets. Our friend opens her little hand-sachet and takes out an array of silk and cheese-cloth dusters. Doffly she goes to work, and soon all the furniture is dusted and in order; then the bric-a-brac, too precious to be trusted to clumsy Biddy's hands, is taken from an adjoining room and arranged artistically on mantels and in cabinets. Scarfs and curtains are next gracefully draped and then she departs for the next house on her list. She assures me that she likes the work of "professional duster" and that her engagements fill three days of every week. She expects soon to be employed by a large furniture house as an arranger of furniture in their show rooms.

I have in mind a young physician's wife living in a large manufacturing city not ten miles from where I am writing. Bright, clever and ambitious, gifted in letter writing; quick and accurate at figures and with a good knowledge of book-keeping, she determined to turn her talents to account. So, half in earnest, half in the spirit of fun, she inserted an advertisement in the evening papers somewhat like this: "Business and love letters written, books kept, bills made and accounts settled." Some six months after she laughingly told me of her success. At first a few letters written for nervous girls, then keeping books and making out bills for a shrewd but ignorant Irishman who kept a little grocery store on the block where she resided, constituted the extent of her business. But now she tells me that she has all she can possibly do. She has furnished a pretty little office of her own and is accumulating a nice little sum in the bank; this, too, without neglecting her home or her husband's interests.

A widow left without resources and with two small children to support was talking with a friend about the necessity of doing something to earn her living. Said the friend: "Why not make the waffles for which you are famous and sell them?" Acting on the suggestion she went to the city, hired a small ground flat on a business avenue and opened the front apartment as a small lunch room. She sold nothing but waffles and coffee and soon became celebrated for the delicious golden-brown triangles dusted with powdered sugar and the clear amber coffee that she dispensed. She is known all over that part of town as the "Waffle Widow," and she earns enough to support herself and her children in comfort.

Two Recipes for Happiness.
1. No nerves. 2. A good digestion. 3. Money galore. 4. Self-satisfaction. 5. Independent widowhood. 6. A capability for enjoyment. 7. The faculty of forgetting. 8. The knack of always saying the right thing in the right place, instead of thinking of it afterward. 9. To expect little from one's friends. 10. To die at forty. 11. A clear conscience. 12. Perfect health. 13. Congenial work. 14. Some measure of success. 15. A few tried friends. 16. To be considered attractive. 17. To retain forever a few illusions. 18. To be able to relieve some of the misery one meets. 19. To be philosophical. 20. And keep from falling desperately in love.

Peculiar

In Combination, Proportion, and Process of preparation, Hood's Sarsaparilla possesses the full curative value of the best known remedies of the vegetable kingdom. "Peculiar in strength and economy—Hood's Sarsaparilla is the only medicine of which can truly be said, '100 doses one dollar.'" Other medicines require larger doses, and do not produce as good results as Hood's Sarsaparilla.

Peculiar in its medicinal merit, Hood's Sarsaparilla accomplishes cures hitherto unknown, and has won the title of "The greatest blood purifier ever discovered." "Peculiar in its 'good name at home'—there is more of Hood's Sarsaparilla sold in Lowell, where it is made, than of all other blood purifiers." Peculiar in its phenomenal record of sales abroad, no other preparation has attained such popularity in so short a time. It

Is Peculiar to Itself.

Peculiar in the originality and effectiveness of its advertising, its methods are continually being copied by competitors.

Peculiar in the way it wins the people's confidence, one bottle always sells another.

Mrs. Michael Curtin, Plainfield, Ill., makes the statement that she caught cold, which settled on her lungs, she was treated for a month by her family physician, but grew worse. He told her she was a hopeless victim of consumption and that no medicine could cure her. LIVESTOCK INTEREST.

A Review of the Situation in Elko County.

A Very Interesting Letter from "Americus" On the Losses of That Section.

ELKO, Nev., February 24, 1890.

EDITOR GAZETTE: During the middle and latter part of January there was a great deal of uneasiness even among conservative stockmen, as to the outcome of stock upon the open winter ranges if the weather there should continue for any time. It seemed to be a field, day for the timid, and the general alarmist who prophesied total destruction of all kinds of stock, and according to their forecast of the result, nothing but wreck and ruin stared the people of the State in the face.

Notwithstanding these exaggerated predictions and the fact that the situation looks most unpromising for stock and that the winter has been one of the worst in the history of Nevada, yet from reliable authority the loss of stock will not be near so great as was reasonably anticipated one month ago. I find after considerable inquiring and correspondence among stockmen from all parts of Eastern Nevada that the situation is not near so deplorable as was supposed by some. The recent partial moderation of the weather has enabled most of our stockmen, and their major domos to ride over a portion of their ranges. Many of them find to their surprise more live cattle and many looking better than they anticipated. It is the same old cry that is circulated every year and generally by non-stockmen as to the great destruction of all kinds of stock. I have no doubt but that most of our stockmen will be surprised when they round up next May and June and find that their actual losses are so meagre when compared with the wild exaggerated reports made during the winter. It is undoubtedly true that the losses will be much greater than heretofore experienced, particularly north of the railroad, but that our stockmen are going to be broken up and our county ruined, is only the crazy imagination of an unhealthy mind. Although we may not be able to see it at present, yet I believe with others it may be for the best interest of the stockmen and the State in the long run that we have had this severe winter with a super-abundance of snow.

THE SNOW.

In Independence valley during the month of January was from two and a half to three feet deep, including Bull Run basin, but at White Rock, Bull Run and other points in that vicinity west of the Bull Run mountains it did not exceed from one and a half to two feet. I learn that Garatt Brothers of Lower Bull Run, at the point of confluence with the South Owyhee, will not lose very heavily, as they drove the major portion of their immense band of horses and cattle to the desert near the Three Forks, where the snow has not exceeded a foot in depth, and consequently their loss will be exceedingly light for this winter. Their winter range was not pastured during the summer, and was in good condition to receive their stock last November. This firm cut and put up a large quantity of hay at their home ranch on Bull Run, and are now feeding several hundred head of horses and fine blooded stock.

Anton Storr, one of the pioneers of White Rock, informs me that there was considerable snow at White Rock, but was fast disappearing from the hillsides, and that the stock were out feeding and doing well. Up to the 10th of this month his loss did not amount to 5 per cent. At that time he was of the opinion that, with a few exceptions, the stock of that vicinity were in good condition, and would be able to pull through with about 10 to 12 per cent. loss.

W. E. Ross, of Mountain City, who is the owner of one of the largest flocks of sheep in all Eastern Nevada, says that his bands of sheep have been doing well on their winter range in the western branch of the Lower Bruneau. This information was under date of the 12th inst. He did not expect to lose over 2,000 out of his 20,000, but he expected to lose some cattle and horses, as he had not given them the same care and attention.

Mr. Moore of Upper Bull Run and the L. H. L. Cattle Company on the Owyhee river will suffer considerable loss, as their winter ranges were scantily supplied with sustenance.

Altube Brothers, who are the owners of one of the largest and best hay ranches north of the railroad in Elko county, will be heavy losers. They have been feeding during the present winter some 5,000 head. They commenced to feed in the early part of December, and they say they will be perfectly satisfied if they pull through with 3,500 head, as they fear their hay will not last longer than the middle of March, although they had nearly 2,000 tons.

Dan Mahon of Independence valley was well provided with hay, having carried over from last year a large quantity, and, therefore, his loss will be meagre, while his neighbor, Chas. Woodward, will lose heavily, having made little or no provision for the winter.

On the east side of the Independence (or Jack Creek) mountains is the source of supply for a number of small streams that form the head of the North Fork of the Humboldt river. From this point down to its junction with the main Humboldt the snow has been exceedingly deep, and the small stockmen, numbering some eighteen or twenty, each with bunches of cattle ranging from 150 to 800, including E. Penrod and John Wieland of Pie creek, will undoubtedly

LOSE HEAVIER THAN ANY OTHERS.

In the county it is claimed by some that Mr. Wieland's loss will reach 80 per cent., he having made no provision to meet the winter, and the feed was eaten off his winter range the past summer.

Hugh Martin, a heavy cattle and horse owner of the Upper Bruneau, has received favorable advice from his range, and he is of the opinion that his loss will not be very heavy, as his winter range contained an abundance of feed, being cut up with deep gorges and canyons that make down from the main Bruneau mountains, affording splendid shelter, feed and water. The storms in this vicinity are always accompanied by considerable wind, which blows the snow from the hillsides and affords places for feed and rest for stock.

The news from what is known as the Big Field, situated to the north-west of the Bruneau range, being enclosed by the two Bruneau rivers, are as yet meagre, but from what little we can learn and the fact that a splendid range, we are led to believe that the stock of Morgan Hill and the Murphy estate and Fisher & Co., including John M. Dorsey and others, will come out of the winter with light losses.

Mary's river, which heads in the southern end of the main Bruneau range, has been visited by heavy snowstorms during the present winter, and the loss of stock belonging to Macdonald & Bradley would have been exceedingly heavy but for the good management of the resident owner, Jeff Bradley, who preserved the stock upon their large ranch, which encloses Mary's river for a distance of some twenty miles or more, carrying an average width of from two to three miles. Upon this large tract a great quantity of hay is put up annually, and upon the portions that are not mowed for hay is good natural pasture for tall dry grasses. This river on both sides is heavily fringed with willows, affording good shelter for stock. The owners of this range have spent a large amount of money in ditching, clearing and fencing, and had it not been for the timely preparations above stated, their loss would have been exceedingly heavy; from the present outlook it may not exceed 18 to 20 per cent., perhaps less.

Col. Hardesty's stock, the major portion of which is north of the railroad from the Wells on Little Salmon Trout and Sun creeks are located in a cold, snowy region, and his loss must undoubtedly be heavy, as he had made no preparation to meet the winter.

Sparks & Tinnin are the owners of the largest stock range in Nevada, which is situated in the north-east part of Elko county, extending eastward to Utah, covering the whole region of country watered by Salmon and Raft rivers, also Goose and Grove creeks, including the headwaters and tributaries of the Upper Snake. Upon this immense range there are not less than 100,000 head or more of cattle; besides, a great number of horses. Notwithstanding that this is a large and fine range, there are portions of it upon which snow falls to a great depth, and being situated within the heavy snow zone of the present winter, their losses must be heavy. I understand from a party who received a letter from the head foreman, that their losses upon the most most favorable wind-up of the winter would not be less than 18,000 to 20,000 head. If this anticipated loss should prove true it will not be a small loss for this firm, as the crop of incoming calves will more than cover the entire loss. South of the railroad the news is more cheering, particularly in Ruby valley and to the southwest, covering the region of country known as Long valley, towards Duckwater. I also learn that stock is doing well in Spring valley and the White river country. I expect to be in receipt of some reliable information in a few days as to the situation of stock south of the railroad, extending eastward as far as Deep creek and southwest to Quinn Canyon, near where ex-Governor Adams' stock are located, and will give the readers of the GAZETTE the benefit of my information.

SIMPLY MARVELOUS!

SCARCELY eight months ago a medical discovery was placed upon the market bearing the title "THE GREAT SIERRA KIDNEY AND LIVER CURE," and whose virtue was claimed to be the cure of kidney and liver complaints. ITS INTRODUCTION WAS THE SIGNAL FOR ONE OF THE GREATEST SUCCESSSES ever achieved by a patent medicine on the Pacific Coast, as the afflicted quickly ascertained that it was far more efficacious and beneficial than had been claimed, as THE MOST WONDERFUL CURES WERE ACCOMPLISHED IN SUCH A BRIEF TIME as to seem MIRACULOUS.

The testimony of hundreds who have been lifted from sickness and misery to health and happiness bears no uncertain sound, and they join in glowing testimonials of universal praise, hoping thereby to induce other unfortunate to drink of the font which restores that which is priceless, health. ONE TRIAL WILL CONVINCE THE MOST DESPAIRING THAT AT LAST A DISCOVERY HAS BEEN MADE which will restore a disorganized system and bring glowing health out of pale and sallow decline. One dollar per bottle. Six bottles for five dollars.

NO LONGER A TERROR.

Modern Treatment that Cures Constipation.

According to the San Francisco Call a remedy has been discovered that with almost unerring certainty overcomes constipation. It is the new laxative principle in Joy's Vegetable Sarsaparilla. The paper is full of reliable occurrences confirming its efficacy, and we give place to their last statement, a card from San Francisco's well known lady manager, who says: "I am willing to relate the following experience. I have for years had a weak stomach attended with constipation, and never found but one preparation that helped me and that soon wore out and lost its effect, and I was again a sufferer till I tried Joy's Vegetable Sarsaparilla. It has thoroughly reorganized me. I had one of the most sensitive of stomachs and was in continual distress, but now with the aid of Joy's Vegetable Sarsaparilla I am content and everything with my old accustomed freedom. I am both surprised and delighted, and gladly recommend it."

Publication of Summons.

IN THE DISTRICT COURT OF THE
State of Nevada, in and for the county of Washoe. The State of Nevada sends to D. S.
Hickman, greeting: You are hereby required to appear in an action commenced against you as defendant by Nona S. Hickman as plaintiff, in the District Court of the State of Nevada, in and for the county of Washoe, and answer the complaint therein within ten days after the service on you of this summons (exclusive of the day of service), if served in said county, or twenty days if served out of said county, but within said district, and in all other cases forty days, or judgment by default will be taken against you according to the prayer of said complaint. The said complaint alleges that you are the defendant in the action, and that you were united in marriage at Reno, in the county of Washoe, State of Nevada, January 27, 1888, that you and plaintiff have not cohabited as husband and wife since said August 20, 1888, that you have not at any time since said marriage contributed to her support; that you went away from Reno, Nevada, about the first of November, 1888; that you abandoned plaintiff about August 30th, aforesaid, and have not since said August 30th recognized her as your wife, and she charges against you abandonment and failure to support her and failure to provide for her the common necessities of life for more than one year preceding her complaint made and filed, which failure to support and provide for her is not a result of poverty that could not have been avoided by you by ordinary industry. She claims against you the custody of your minor child, on the ground that you are incompetent to care for him or to have dominion over him, all of which will more fully appear from the complaint which is on file in the office of the Clerk of said Court at Reno, in said county, and to which you are especially referred.

And you are further notified that if you fail to appear and answer said complaint, the said plaintiff will apply to the Court for the relief demanded and for costs of suit.
In testimony whereof, I, William Webster, have hereunto set my hand this 21st day of January, A. D. 1890.

A Mechanical Invention of Great Commer- cial Importance.

A new mechanical telephone of extraordinary power has recently been exciting considerable attention in London and some other cities and towns in this country, writes a correspondent of Nature. It is of American origin, like so many other modern improvements of exceptional character, being the invention of one Lemuel Mellet, I believe, of Boston. There have been many previous mechanical telephones, as your readers are aware, some of which have obtained much publicity for a short time, and then have been heard of but little more; but having had an opportunity of experimenting frequently with the new instrument and observing its vocal power, so to speak, under very various circumstances, I can not doubt it has a great future before it.

It may be clearly stated at once that the pulson instrument is absolutely independent of all electrical aids or appliances, and therefore needs neither battery power to bring it into play nor insulation of any of its parts to keep them effective. It consists solely of two cheap and simple instruments connected by an ordinary non-insulated wire of copper, or, better still, of a double steel wire, the two parts being slightly intertwisted, say with about a single turn in a couple of feet. The wire (or wires) is simply looped to the instrument at either end, the connection being made in a few seconds. The instrument consists of a disk in combination with a series of small spiral springs inclosed in a case of some three or four inches in diameter. These springs, arranged in a manner that has been determined by experiment, and so as to produce harmonized vibrations, appear to possess the power of magnifying or accumulating upon the wire the vibrations which the voice sets up in the disk, and the wire seems to possess—undoubtedly does possess—the power of transmitting to great distances, and giving out upon a second pulson instrument the sounds of the voice.

The ability of this simple system of springs, disks and wires to convey conversational and other sounds to considerable distances with great clearness and distinctness, reproducing the very tones of the voice and the qualities of musical sounds with but little reduction or modification, is most surprising, and to none more so than to the many men of science who have been recently experimenting with it.

The writer of this notice can not, perhaps, do better than state his own experiences with this system. After examining and experimenting over several short lengths of wire, some of them exceeding a mile and a half, he last week went to the Finchley Road Station of the Midland railway, from a point near to which a line had been conveyed to near the Welsh Harp Station, a distance of three miles by the line of railway, and of more by the track of the wire, which for the larger part was carried by the telegraph-posts, to which it was attached by very simple means. Conversation through this length of line, of over three miles, was exceedingly easy; indeed, so powerfully was the voice transmitted that an ordinary hat sufficed for all the purposes of the second instrument, without going near to which conversation was carried on repeatedly by means of the hats of three gentlemen who were present, the tops of which were merely placed against the telephone wire.

I then went into the garden of the "Welsh Harp," where a short length of wire had been led between two points, one on its way from one point to the other being twice tightly twisted, at an interval of some yards, round small branches of trees of about one inch in diameter, being wound round and round the branch three times in each case. Strange to say, this tight twisting of the wires round the branches in no way interfered with the transmission of the voice from end to end of the wire.

A third and last experiment was made with a wire laid obliquely across the Welsh Harp lake, and allowed to sink to and rest upon the lake bottom. The length of the line was roughly estimated at about one-third of a mile, and from end to end (excepting a few yards at each end where the wire was led from the water's edge to the telephone box) the wire was completely immersed, and without any other support than the bottom of the lake offered it. Yet, notwithstanding this immersion of the whole wire, conversation was carried on through it by means of the pulson instruments without the least difficulty.
In fact, the voice came through the immersed wire, and the longest wire (of over three miles) previously mentioned, with greater purity and mellowness than through shorter lengths.

He Couldn't Exactly Tell.

A late respected general manager of the St. Paul road on one occasion appeared at the repair shops of the company in this city, says the Milwaukee Wisconsin, and, becoming interested in the work of one of the mechanics, remarked: "Young man, it seems to me you are not doing that correctly." The workman looked up with supreme contempt at the stranger and replied promptly: "It's none of your business, you blamed idiot." This nettled the old man, and in a voice trembling with rage he paralyzed the mechanic with "Yes, sir, it is my business. I'm the manager of this road." "Excuse me," replied the poor fellow, "I was not aware of the fact; but you see when a damned fool comes around here we can't tell whether he is the manager or nobody." The old gentleman saw the point and passed on.

Incombustible Curtains.

There are many substances which have the property of rendering the fabrics to which they are applied incombustible, but they usually spoil them, either by changing the color or stiffen-ing them to such a degree that they can not be used. An easy and safe way to protect curtains and mosquito nets against fire is said to be by steeping them in a solution of phosphate of ammonia, obtained by mixing half a litre of water (one pint) with one hundred grammes (about three ounces) of phosphate. In this way the color and texture remain unaltered.

The Professor Popped the Question Just a Few Minutes Too Late.

It appears, says the New York Tribune, that there is a young lady living in Detroit who for some time has been the recipient of the attentions of two young men, one a professor in the State University at Ann Arbor and the other a traveling salesman for a New York wholesale hardware house, whose route extends through Michigan and parts of Canada. One day last week the New Yorker arrived in Detroit late in the afternoon, and, of course, immediately started making the rounds of the retail hardware dealers, with the laudable purpose of selling each a good stock for the winter before the representative of any rival house should put in an appearance. He had hoped to call on the object of his affections in the evening, but business was good, and eight o'clock found him busy trying to induce a Woodward avenue dealer to take six dozen axes, four dozen grindstones and a half-carload of wooden pails. At this stage of the proceedings a younger brother of the young lady dropped in to buy a new jack-knife, and mentioned casually that the Ann Arbor professor was up at the house. It instantly occurred to the enterprising hardware and cutlery salesman that the professor had come for no other purpose than to lay his heart at the feet of the young lady he himself adored. For a moment there was a struggle in his breast, but he speedily got control of himself and decided that he could not possibly leave the store, as the dealer was just on the point of deciding to take the pails.
But the thought of giving up the lady who had been for months constantly in his mind, waking and sleeping, was unbearable. Light suddenly dawned on him. Handling the dealer a circular explaining the merits of his new double-bladed chopping-knives, he requested the use of the merchant's telephone for five minutes, stepped to it and rang up the central office.

A moment later the telephone-bell at the residence of the young lady rang sharp and decisive. The professor had been there for an hour talking pleasantly of the grand educational work they were doing in the department of fossil-ology at Ann Arbor. When the bell rang, the lady's father being absent (he was a physician), she excused herself and went into the adjoining room to answer it. The professor began her step to the telephone and say "Yes," make a short pause and say "Yes" again. Then there was a short pause and he heard her say: "Why—why—really, this is sudden." Then there was a still longer pause and he heard her say "Yes," softly, then "Good-bye," and she hung up the receiver and came back into the room. The professor moved closer to the fire and remarked that it was a children's evening, and he thought it was going to snow, and then resumed his talk about the great work at the university.
Fifteen minutes later there was a ring at the front door-bell. The lady answered it and a district messenger boy handed her a plain gold ring, which she slipped on her finger and returned to the parlor. "Miss—," said the professor, five minutes later, "I want to ask you an important question this evening.
Excuse me for putting it bluntly, but will you be my wife?" But we need go no further with this. Two minutes later the professor went down the front steps, shook his fist at the telephone wire and took the 8:45 train for Ann Arbor.

Turns Hair Black.

Even White Hair Altered by the Use of Dr. Prentiss has related to the London Times a remarkable occurrence following the use of Jaborandi. The patient was a woman aged 72, who had snow-white hair for twenty years. For the symptoms of commencing uræmia, due to contracted kidney, 20 or 30 minims of extract of Jaborandi was prescribed several times daily.

The drug was taken from October, 1886, to February, 1888. During the autumn of 1887 the eyebrows were becoming darker, and the hair of the head became also darker in patches. This continued until the patches of hair were quite dark, contrasting with the natural patches of snow-white hair. The hair did not universally change before her death.

In 1881 Dr. Prentiss had published another case of kidney disease—pyelonephritis—treated with pilo-carpine.
The hair of the patient, a lady aged twenty-five, changed from light blonde to black under the influence of the drug.
The pilo-carpine was administered hypodermically (one-sixth of a grain) twenty-two times in the course of two months; the dose was then increased.
In one month after commencing the treatment the hair changed from a light blonde to chestnut brown; four months later it was "almost a pure black." It is satisfactory to find that eight years afterward the hair is again a dark brown.

Dr. Prentiss ascribes the phenomenon to the Jaborandi and its active principle, pilo-carpine. Cases where, as the result of the influence of the nervous system, in pain or fright, the hair has changed color, are pathological curiosities. So little is known, however, of the physiological influence of the nervous system over the growth and nutrition of hair, that it is at present quite impossible to understand how a drug administered internally can alter the color of the hair.
It would be interesting to learn from other practitioners who have used Jabo-randi or pilo-carpine for an extended period whether any change in the color of hair has been noticed.

He Gave Himself Away.

An absconder from Mississippi got as far as Niagara Falls without leaving any trail to be picked up. In crossing the bridge to Goat Island he observed that most of the asses in America had out-written their names on the wood work, and he put his there for company and was picked up next day.

A Cure for Influenza.

The New York Board of Health furnishes the following prescription for Russian influenza: Spray the affected membrane with a ten-per-cent solution of quinine freely and frequently, and take four or five times a day a pill made as follows: Quinine, three grains; camphor, one-half grain; extract of belladonna, one-fourth grain.

A Brilliant Sketch of Henry Clay by One of His Contemporaries.

Henry Clay was the tallest of the great Senators of his era, says Oliver Lyer in his "Great Senators," his height being six feet and one inch in his stockings. He was also the most brilliant, the most chivalric, and by far the most popular. Indeed, his popularity was phenomenal—incalculable to those who were not personally cognizant of it; and he was justly entitled to every bit of it.
He possessed, in remarkable fullness, all the qualities which win and retain popularity. He was kind-hearted, sympathetic, genial, tender, brave, honest, chivalric, and always true and loyal to his friends. His conscientiousness, hope, benevolence, firmness, self-esteem and love of approbation were all largely developed and active; so that he was accommodating in friendship, but unyielding in principle; firm but gentle, at once proud and affable; and both democratic and aristocratic by nature and in manner. His good nature and his inborn American democratic-republicanism gave a familiar and half-fellow cast to his greetings and his intercourse; but his high-toned chivalric dignity of character pervaded his genial familiarity, and kept his associates in mind that it was not the familiarity of a common-place personage, but that of a high-bred gentleman who, from his own intrinsic graciousness and spirit of goodfellowship, chose to be thus affable.

The combination of qualities rendered Clay's address surpassingly irresistible, and the first fascinating impression was made enduring by the action of other qualities which are rightfully potential with mankind. He had a marvelous faculty for seeing every thing and remembering every thing—names, faces, places, events, scenes and the topographical features of a country through which he traveled. If he met a man and spoke with him, he never forgot him or the circumstances under which they met. After spending a few hours in any place through which he passed, he could recall its features and peculiarities at any subsequent time, however remote, and remember the people he met there, and what their vocations were to the minutest particular. This gave him surpassing influence and popularity, inasmuch as it is pleasant to anybody to be remembered for years by a distinguished personage. The rare qualities mentioned in the preceding paragraph, which Henry Clay possessed in such affluent degree, enabled him naturally and without effort to make the most of the great gifts of perception and memory. Nor was it a matter of mere selfish policy for him to do so; it was the external outcome of the internal man, the spontaneous effluence of the inner spirit. He loved every part of his country with patriotic fervor, and took an interest in every part of it, and in all its inhabitants, and sympathized with them and their pursuits. He was the great champion of American industry, and wherever he saw a blacksmith's forge or a carpenter shop, or a mill, or a factory, or a stone quarry, or a steam engine, or a printing press, or a mart of commerce, or a farming region, his heart thrilled with interest, and he went out in patriotic affection for the people who were at work in all those places. And that was one of the chief reasons why he remembered such things so well and was so fond of talking about them. His intense, vivid, personal and patriotic devotion to the industrial affairs of the country stamped his observations of them indelibly upon his memory and kept his interest in them alive forever; while his broad and generous sympathy with working-men gave a magnetic geniality to the interest he felt in them which was expressively attractive and winning to the toilers.

The leading characteristic of Henry Clay's mind was penetration. His perceptive and knowing faculties were so enormously developed that nothing could escape his alert observation. He could instantaneously see clear to the bottom of any subject that came under his consideration. No sophistry could mislead him, no trick of rhetoric could impose upon him. In controversy he was logical, witty, humorous, forcible, sarcastic, eloquent. His style was vehement and impassioned. His voice was full, rich, clear, sweet, musical, and was inspiring as a trumpet; it was also penetrating that in the ordinary tones of conversation it could be heard farther than the thick, vocal bray of some of his rivals. When he became excited in debate his manner was peculiarly knightly, game, audacious and sometimes arrogant. As he set forth proposition after proposition with increasing energy and fire, his tall form would seem to grow taller and taller with every new statement, until it reached a supernatural height; his eyes flashed, and his hair waved wildly about his head; his long arms swept through the air, every lineament of his countenance spoke and glowed, until the beholder might imagine that he saw a great soul on fire, and expressing itself through an organism which spontaneously responded to its every emotion.

A Useful Invention.

A very useful invention tending to lessen the possibility of accidents in factories is now being extensively adopted in England. The breaking of a glass, which is adjusted against the wall of every room in the mill, will at once stop the engine, an electric current being established between the room and the throttle-valve of the engine, shutting off the steam in an instant. By this means the engine was stopped at one of the mills recently in a few seconds, and a young girl, whose clothes had become entangled in an upright shaft, was released uninjured.

For Sleepless People.

Five rules to insure sleep: Eat nothing hearty after five o'clock; calm your mind before retiring; go to bed at a regular hour; when you wake rise at once; never sleep during the day.

Why Sneezing Is Healthful.

The London Lancet says that the people who sneeze often are the healthiest.
A sneeze sets the blood circulating and throws off a cold which is trying to settle.

A Fir Log was Recently Taken into a Tacoma (Wash.) mill that was 110 feet long, 83 inches in diameter at the butt and 58 inches at the small end. It was cut into ship plank and contained about 10,000 feet.

KISSED ANOTHER MAN'S WIFE.

"You scoundrel," yelled young Jacob Green at his good neighbor Brown—
"You kissed my wife upon the cheek—I ought to knock you down."
"That's where you're wrong," good Brown replied.
"In accents mild and meek:
I kissed her; that I've not denied But I kissed her on the cheek—and I did so because she looked so handsome—the very picture of beauty and health."
"What is the secret of it?"
"Well," replied Green, "since you ask it, I will tell you: she uses Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription. I accept your apology. Good night."

An unhealthy woman is rarely, if ever, beautiful. The peculiar diseases to which so many of the sex are subject, are prolific causes of pale, sallow faces, dull, listless eyes and emaciated forms. Women so afflicted, can be permanently cured by using Dr. Pierce's Favorite Prescription; and with the restoration of health comes that beauty which, combined with good qualities of head and heart, makes women angels of loveliness.

"Favorite Prescription" is the only medicine for women, sold by druggists, under a positive guarantee from the manufacturers, that it will give satisfaction in every case, or money will be refunded. It is a positive specific for leucorrhœa, painful menstruation, chronic congestion, inflammation, or falling of the womb, weak back, atony, retroversion, bearing-down sensations, chronic constipation, indigestion and ulceration of the womb.
